Local Guardsmen Respond Promptly To Practice Alert

With speed and efficiency, Company E of the Florida National Guard, was mobilized last night, as General Mark W. Lance, the Adjutant General, gave the order to start "Operation Minuteman".

The one-day test alert also found other Army and Air National Guard units throughout the state responding with alacrity and enthusiasm to the training exercise of its kind ever held by the National Guard. Reports from all over the state indicated "Operation Minuteman" proceeded smoothly, with virtually no interruption to normal civilian activities.

Li. Jack Crombie commanding Company E, expressed himself as well pleased with initial results of the test alert in this area.

"As a whole," Operation Minuteman proceeded according to schedule. We received the alert order at 7:10 p.m., forty minutes after the national alert was declared, and immediately sent out a hurry call to officers and men of the unit to report at once to their assigned stations.

"We are grateful for the fine spirit of cooperation shown by our fellow citizens and their interest in this exercise which is such an important part of our training," he declared.

"We are also highly pleased with the splendid cooperation and attention to duty of all personnel of Company E. Each of our local Guardsmen responded to the alert, promptly and most enthusiastically and made every effort to carry out his assigned duties to the best of his ability."

"Of course, there were some hitches, as to be expected, but "Operation Minuteman" so far we are concerned, was one of the finest training exercises we have ever engaged in. We learned a lot from it and feel that now we are even better prepared to be of service to community, state or nation when and if our services are needed."

The order to put "Operation Minuteman" in motion was given to Florida National Guard, by Gen. Mark W. Lance, the State Adjutant General.

In a matter of minutes the first members of the unit reported to the assembly in the company E and in a surprisingly short time Company E was assembled at its assigned station and ready to carry out training orders as transmitted by Gen. Lance for the one-day test.

Participating in "Operation Minuteman" with Company E were more than 5,500 other Army and Air National Guard units in about 2,300 other communities throughout the state, and the 47 other states of the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Puerto Rico.

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS

With the month of May just around the corner, everybody will be hearing a lot about the local unit. May is "Join the Guard Month." That means that there will be all manner of things going on in and around Belle Glade to bring the Florida National Guard and especially Company E to the attention of those few folks who still don't know which this great asset to our community is in for a treat. They will have as guest speakers some of the "higher ups" in the Guard to give them a more full picture of the importance of the Guard in our country and in Belle Glade.

Later on in the month, the local unit is planning a big

Two Sides?

Chief Steward Hardy of Belle Glade sub-local, CWA says:

"Our strike action is the only way we have of forcing the company to live up to the terms of the contract. If we could not strike the company would violate the contract and the matter would end there. We only want a guarantee that the contract will be enforced. We will allow the no-strike clause in our contract if contract violations will be taken care of by a local government appointed arbitrator."

Increasing Supply Generally Weakens Demand And Price

Carloadings reached a total of 632 for the week ending April 15, and this figure was estimated truck loadings bring the total to more than 1,300 carload equivalents for the week, an average of better than 170 cars daily.

The warmer spring weather bringing some of the other areas in, together with our own increasing supply have tended to depress all demand and increase prices.

Local Phone Strike Goes Peacefully On

As the arbitration talks continued in Atlanta between CWA officials and Southern Bell officials, attempting to reach settlement in the six-week-old strike, investigation on a local area disclosed the fact that hair-splitting and misunderstanding is the biggest stumbling block next to the no-strike clause toward reaching a settlement.

This week Leland D. Hardy, chief negotiator of sub local 3112 CWA, charged that The Herald falsely accused the union members of violence connected with the strike such as cable and wire cutting.

Edward Reddy, district manager for Southern Bell, told this reporter that these acts of violence were "obviously committed by someone familiar with telephone plant and its operation." Cuttings indicated the work was done by the CWA.

CWA officials have stressed that they did not want acts such as those mentioned to be committed by the union.

Today's Meditation

READ TEXT 1:1-14

Jesus saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven, and a few little fishes. (Matthew 15:34)

The time has come to feed the multitude. The disciples, in fear and confusion, would send them away hungry. Jesus expects to feed them. He commands that they secure their total supply and bring it to him. They were worried because they did not know what they did have. Evidently they overlooked the fact that, in addition to their own seven loaves and a few little fishes, they had Jesus.

The disciples had the responsibility of feeding the people but expected someone else to do it for them. Christ called them to their own task. God will never ask us to do anything he does not sufficiently empower us to do.

The loaves we have do not amount to much when selfishly separated; but when we give them to God, they become sufficient.

PRAYER

Joyfully we praise Thy name and worship Thee for accepting our small gifts and multiplying them by the power and power of Christ Jesus to help feed the hungry world. We arise from our devotions to labor with Thee in love and sacrifice through Him who is our Redeemer.—Amen.
